Within the beautiful landscape of McLaren Vale nearby Adelaide in Southern Australia lies the fun & welcoming winery Mollydooker winery. The Estate as well as its wines are truly unique & innovative in many ways. The story of Mollydooker Wines starting in 2006, although there is a passionate foundation of its birth that started already in 1991 with the founders Sarah and Sparky. From being newly graduated & newlyweds, they worked at Sarah's parents to later on, invent & install Marquis Vineyard Watering Programme. When they decided to create their own winery business. They figured that Mollydooker would be a fitting notion since "mollydooker" means left-hander in Australia, & both Sarah & Sparky were mollydookers. Their drive announced them as Australia's winemakers of the year in 1999, & after that, the Mollydooker wines won many prestigious prizes & nominations during the years come.

Today Mollydooker wines is much more than just a winery. The primal idea with the winery was to have fun but also to help others, so from 2009 the winery has "sip it forward-wine", which means that the cost of certain wines or the processes around them goes to different kinds of initiatives to help different kinds of communities in need.

The whole team at Mollydooker Wines is passionate about the winery's motto. "We make wines that make people go WOW", and no doubt about that when thinking about the high quality & uniqueness that the wines embrace. For instance, the winery has its own nitrogen wines or "shaker wines". In order to avoid as much sulfate as possible, the mostly red wines are blended with nitrogen which means that one has to shake the bottle before serving wine.
